From their very first day in school, students should be actively engaged in learning to view the world scientifically. That means encouraging them to ask questions about nature and to seek answers, collect things, count and measure things, make qualitative observations, organize collections and observations, discuss findings, etc. Getting into the spirit of science and liking science are what ...

Inquiry-based learning (also enquiry-based learning in British English) is a form of active learning that starts by posing questions, problems or scenarios. It contrasts with traditional education, which generally relies on the teacher presenting facts and his or her knowledge about the subject. Inquiry-based Learning is often assisted by a facilitator rather than a lecturer.

Academic writing, or scholarly writing is a prose style. Normally delivered in an impersonal and dispassionate tone, it is targeted at a critical and informed audience, based on closely investigated knowledge; and intended to reinforce or challenge concepts or arguments. It usually circulates within the academic world ('the academy').

Previously, I have reviewed debates between William Lane Craig and Christopher Hitchens, and between Daniel Dennett and Dinesh D'Souza. I also gave one-paragraph reviews of most William Lane Craig debates, and I said I'm not sure Craig has actually lost a debate.. Many readers have said they think Craig lost his recent debate with ethical philosopher Shelley Kagan, so today I'd like to ...

Highlights The persistence of health inequalities in the modern welfare states of Western Europe is difficult to explain. We hypothesize that it is partly due to persisting inequalities in access to material and immaterial resources. We hypothesize that it is partly due to greater intergenerational social mobility and stronger selection. We hypothesize that it is partly due to consumption ...
