Note that the centripetal force is proportional to the square of the velocity, implying that a doubling of speed will require four times the centripetal force to keep the motion in a circle. If the centripetal force must be provided by friction alone on a curve, an increase in speed could lead to an unexpected skid if friction is insufficient.

According to the theory of relativity, time dilation is a difference in the elapsed time measured by two observers, either due to a velocity difference relative to each other, or by being differently situated relative to a gravitational field. As a result of the nature of spacetime, a clock that is moving relative to an observer will be measured to tick slower than a clock that is at rest in ...

The standard acceleration due to gravity (or standard acceleration of free fall), sometimes abbreviated as standard gravity, usually denoted by g_0 or g_n , is the nominal gravitational acceleration of an object in a vacuum near the surface of the Earth. It is defined by standard as $9.806\,65\text{ m/s}^2$ (about $32.174\,05\text{ ft/s}^2$). This value was established by the 3rd CGPM (1901, CR 70) and used to ...
