This page describes the factors controlling the speeds of chemical reactions and the collision theory behind it discussed. The factors affecting the speed of reaction are also presented using particle models to give a theoretical basis to the rules on the effects of concentration, pressure, temperature, solid reactant particle size (surface area), stirring, catalysts and light.

This study assessed, from the thermodynamic point of view, the feasibility of methane production using CO₂ present in raw biogas. The thermodynamic analysis of the Sabatier reaction was performed using the Aspen Plus software and considering in situ water removal to displace the reaction equilibrium. The temperature and pressure were varied between 200 – 450 °C and 1 – 30 atm ...
