In a recent review published in Nature Reviews Chemistry, Cronin group researchers describe how machine learning, coupled with real-time chemistry, is set to change the way chemists discover molecules, reactions and reactivity, as well as removing researcher bias. The systems discussed would remove the need to have an biased human chemist making judgements, in favour of searching chemical space ...

The origins of algebra can be traced to the ancient Babylonians, [page needed] who developed a positional number system that greatly aided them in solving their rhetorical algebraic equations. The Babylonians were not interested in exact solutions but approximations, and so they would commonly use linear interpolation to approximate intermediate values.

where A_j is the pre-exponential factor of the reaction j and u is the liner velocity of the unreacted gas in the flame fixed coordinate (i.e., laminar flame speed). We conducted sensitivity analysis for laminar flame speed and listed elementary reactions which had relatively large values of sensitivity coefficients (see Table S1 for details). For these reactions, we performed a literature ...
