In mathematics, a combination is a selection of items from a collection, such that (unlike permutations) the order of selection does not matter. For example, given three fruits, say an apple, an orange and a pear, there are three combinations of two that can be drawn from this set: an apple and a pear; an apple and an orange; or a pear and an orange.

Combination - Wikipedia

If one sees a number as a set of its prime factors, then $()$ is a generalization of Möbius inversion formula for square-free natural numbers. Therefore, $()$ is seen as the Möbius inversion formula for the incidence algebra of the partially ordered set of all subsets of A . For a generalization of the full version of Möbius inversion formula, $()$ must be generalized to multisets.
