The Virtual Lab is an online simulation of a chemistry lab. It is designed to help students link chemical computations with authentic laboratory chemistry. The lab allows students to select from hundreds of standard reagents (aqueous) and manipulate them in a manner resembling a real lab. More information and offline downloads. Mini-lesson: I begin the lesson by explaining to students that the rest of the unit is going to use everything we have learned so far in a process called titration. I then show this video to give a brief visual overview of what titrations are.. I then ask the class some questions, and students share out answers in an informal environment: What is a titration?

In the presence of water, citric acid and sodium bicarbonate (aka baking soda) react to form sodium citrate, water, and carbon dioxide. Students investigate this endothermic reaction. They test a stoichiometric version of the reaction followed by testing various perturbations on the stoichiometric version in which each reactant (citric acid, sodium bicarbonate and water) is strategically ...
