Deterministic modeling process is presented in the context of linear programs (LP). LP models are easy to solve computationally and have a wide range of applications in diverse fields. This site provides solution algorithms and the needed sensitivity analysis since the solution to a practical problem is not complete with the mere determination of the optimal solution.

The simplest borate anion, the orthoborate(3-) ion, $[\text{BO}_3]^{3-}$, is known in the solid state, for example in $\text{Ca}_3(\text{BO}_3)_2$. In this it adopts a near trigonal planar structure. It is a structural analogue of the carbonate anion $[\text{CO}_3]^{2-}$, with which it is isoelectronic. Simple bonding theories point to the trigonal planar structure.

X-ray crystallography (XRC) is a technique used for determining the atomic and molecular structure of a crystal, in which the crystalline structure causes a beam of incident X-rays to diffract into many specific directions. By measuring the angles and intensities of these diffracted beams, a crystallographer can produce a three-dimensional picture of the density of electrons within the crystal.

INTRODUCTION General Morphological Analysis (GMA) was developed by Fritz Zwicky - the Swiss astrophysicist and aerospace scientist based at the California Institute of Technology (Caltech) - as a method for structuring and investigating the total set of relationships contained in multi-dimensional, non-quantifiable, problem complexes (Zwicky 1966, 1969).
